

Mainely Men Creed

In our space there are no mistakes, only learning experiences. Asking for our needs gets us started. Knowing when to say “yes” or “no” takes us further. We accept that some are more comfortable with intimacy than others. We will be gentle with each other, challenging ideas not people. We will respect boundaries and expect them in return. We will remember, all of us hurt in ways not readily apparent to others – or even ourselves.